Letters are inspired by Japanese typography. Although, the letters are created from scratch to incorporates values of creations-creativity, individuality, customization, caring, trust and uniqueness.
So letters are flat but elongated, it is fluid in shape to denote ‘it can be anything’.
All letters have a sense of similarity and symmetry to them to symbolize individuality but with family values and care. It is about treating people as you want to be treated.

The color is of orange tone of the fox. It is loud and stands out. It has a sense of power in it but it is lighter than red.
It has more potential because it compliments all range of colors.
